

Quaker House Residential Community has openings for fall 2008!!

(For balance, males and/or international students are encouraged to apply!)

Quaker House Residential Community (QHRC) is a semi-cooperative, socially diverse living community. We share and care for a beautiful six-bedroom, turn-off-the-century house in Ann Arbor, close to the University of Michigan's central campus. We are a fluid community of busy active people who value...

- Multi-cultural/ racial/ ethnic/ LGBT inclusivity;
- Delicious meals, mostly vegetarian;
- Simple, economical and environmentally friendly living;
- Regular organized work and meeting activities;
- Mature, stable, supportive relationships;
- Open, forthright communication and consensus decision making.

Quakers are welcomed, however Quaker membership is not required. There is a formal application process. Regular evening meals are a central activity of the QHRC. Housemates share meal costs, weekly cooking and cleaning responsibilities, and regular attendance at house and community meetings (6-10 hours per week). A monthly financial contribution is required. Common space in Quaker House is frequently used for public community events. The House is smoke and drug free. Alcohol use is discouraged. Pets are not allowed.
